

Optimize Your Assets Through Revitalization

re·vi·tal·ize[rē-'vī-tə-,līz]:

to adapt to a new use; to bring back; to make ready for reuse, to return to an original condition so that operation can begin again

Rail development requires capital investment.

Previous tenants have already made the investment.

Vacant buildings are looking for new life.

Utilizing these existing locations can be a cost-effective solution for clients looking for a rail-served property.

Union Pacific can help connect your community to potential clients.
